Definitions

Dependent Student
A student who is claimed for federal income tax purposes as a dependent by his/her parents.

Educational Records
The term “educational records” is a term of art in FERPA, defined as “those records, files, documents, and other materials which contain information directly related to a student; and are maintained by an educational agency or institution or by a person acting for such agency or institution.”

FERPA
FERPA is the acronym for the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, which was originally enacted in 1974 as a part of a bill extending the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and has been amended over the years. The purpose of the Act is two-fold: to assure parents of enrolled students’ access to their education records; and, to protect such individuals’ right to privacy by limiting the transferability of their records without their consent. Parents transfer their rights under FERPA to their child when he or she “has attained eighteen years of age or is attending an institution of postsecondary education.”
